

Dear Colleague,

We would like to draw your attention and the attention of your students to the upcoming Europhosphatase 2013 meeting, which will take place in Rehovot, Israel, between July 7-12, 2013.

The meeting highlights protein phosphatases and signal transduction in general. It will include two keynote lectures by Prof. Gerard Karsenty, Columbia University and Prof. Yosef Shiloh, Tel Aviv University, as well as invited lectures by leaders of the protein phosphatase field. Several abstracts will be selected for oral presentation, and ample time for informal discussions will be available.

Special reduced registration fees and some financial assistance for travel expenses for students and post-docs are available

(please see <http://events.embo.org/13-europhosphatases/index.html>).
